SECTION C – Practical applications

Answer all the questions.

Brazilian athlete gives up chance of winning to help struggling Mexican cross the finishing line

A dazed and struggling Mexican athlete was helped over the finishing line by a top-class Brazilian runner at the end of a marathon race in Brazil yesterday.

The Mexican runner was just in the lead as competitors headed into the final kilometre but then the heat began to take its toll and he started to weave across the course. The Brazilian runner, who was not far behind in second place, caught up, put his arm around the struggling Mexican and all but carried him along the final few hundred metres so he could cross the finishing line. An American runner did not stop to help but overtook them to win the race.

When asked later why he had given up his chance of winning the race, the Brazilian said, "It was an easy thing to do. In Brazil we are always encouraged to be friendly, helpful and agreeable. Such behaviours are valued over achievement."

The American runner, who won the race, when asked why he didn't stop to help said it was the Mexican's own fault he was affected so badly by the heat. He should have done more training in hot climates like this one in Brazil. He also said that his coach had told him that he should always try to win all races, regardless of the physical or mental costs or his moral beliefs, so he was only obeying orders.

Based on an article from The Guardian's sport section found on-line.

- 9 (a) Identify two psychological issues raised by the article above. Support your answer with evidence from the article.
